Organiser

Dr Magdalena Kędzior, ERA

With the support of the Erasmus+ programme of the European Union
Objective

The conference aims to provide legal practitioners and data protection specialists with the necessary guidance on new data protection rules provided by the GDPR and the upcoming e-Privacy Regulation and how to combine them with the demands of the contemporary economy. It will offer an opportunity to discuss with key legal experts the challenges and issues at stake.

Who should attend?

Data protection and IT lawyers, data protection officers, compliance and information officers, representatives of NGOs, judges, staff of data protection authorities, EU and national civil servants

You will learn …

- how the application of the GDPR is assessed by Data Protection Authorities at the European and national level
- which challenges in the application of the GDPR have emerged in commercial practice and how to cope with them
- how to ensure accountability under the GDPR and how to prepare Data Protection Impact Assessments
- how advanced are e-privacy reforms and what they entail for different stakeholders
- which challenges arise for data protection in the use of Artificial Intelligence and Blockchain technologies and which remedies can be applied
- how the CJEU interprets the responsibility of social media services for personal data processing
- which data protection concerns arise from the e-evidence package
